MORE APPOINTMENTS.

Daniel N. Morgan Given the Position of Treasurer.

The Russian Extradition Treaty Bobs Up Again—Other Matters of Public Interest.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate.

Edward H. Strobel, of New York, to be third assistant secretary of state, vice Wm. M. Grinnell, resigned.

Daniel N. Morgan, of Connecticut, to be treasurer of the United States, vice Enos H. Nebeker, resigned.

Conrad N. Jordan, of New York, to be assistant treasurer of the United States at New York City, vice Ellis H. Roberts resigned.

Henry V. Johnson, of Colorado, to be attorney of the United States for the district of Colorado.

Charles B. Bellinger, of Oregon, to be United States district judge for the district of Oregon.

Wm. K. Reid, of Utah, to be judge of probate in the county of San Pete, territory of Utah.

Daniel M. Browning, of Illinois, to be commissioner of Indian affairs.

Frank C. Armstrong, of Washington, D. C., to be assistant commissioner of Indian affairs.

The text, or alleged text of the extradition treaty, which was signed by Secretary Bayard and Mr. DeStruve, the Russian minister at Washington, in 1887, but which failed of ratification in the senate principally because of the strong opposition raised to article three defining political offences, is published here this morning apparently with a view of eliciting expressions of public opinion. The same alleged text was published in some of the New York papers six years ago, and it is believed to be accurate.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Cleveland, in dealing with army appointments, will have in mind the greatest good for the greatest number. An illustration of his policy was brought to light in his recent dealing with the case of a young lieutenant, who applied to have his commission ante dated so that he might be placed on the same footing with members of his class, who ranked him many numbers on the lineal list by the reason of the young officer having failed to graduate until two months after his class mates were appointed second lieutenants.

The case was that of a cadet in the class of '91, who, while proficient in all his studies except Spanish, failed to make the required percentage in this branch, but upon the recommendations of the board of visitors and the academic board he was given two months to make up the deficiency. At the end of this time he passed his examinations successfully and was commissioned, but as there were an unusual number of vacancies in all branches of the service that year, a number of appointments were made from the ranks and civil life between the date of commission of the rest of his class and his own, which placed him at the disadvantage of being placed at the foot of the list of about thirty others.

A bill was passed by congress authorizing the president to ante date his commission, but when the young officer's congressman called upon the president the other day in behalf of his appointee to that academy the president positively declined to accede to his request.

"I would like to oblige you," he is stated to have said to the congressman, "but I appreciate that over thirty other young officers would suffer by my act in promotion, and for this reason I cannot make the nomination."

Secretary Herbert has decided upon the detail for the Behring Sea patrol this season. The fleet that will look after American interests in Alaskan waters this summer will consist of seven vessels, the same number as last season, and they will sail from San Francisco soon after May 15. The flagship of the squadron will be the Mohican, now Admiral Skerrett's flagship at Honolulu, which will be brought home in a few weeks and fitted out for her northern cruise. The Petrel, on the Asiatic station, will be ordered to proceed direct to Alaska, and the Adams, at San Francisco will be sent out to relieve the Mohican, Admiral Skerrett then transferring his flag to either her or the Boston. The fleet will thus consist of the Mohican Petrel, probably the Alliance or Alert, the fish commission steamer Albatross and the revenue cutters Rush, Bear and Corwin. The three latter vessels will be commanded respectively by Captains Hooper, Healy and Munger. They are ready for service and can sail on one week's notice. The senior officers in command of the naval ships will be in charge of the fleet.

The finance committee met this morning and cleared up the calendar by ordering a favorable report upon all nominations before it, including that of Mr. Eckles, nominated to be comptroller of the currency. The latter was ordered to be favorably reported by a strict party vote, although there were but two republicans present to protest—Senators Sherman and Morrill. The nomination was reported at the executive session today. There was some discussion of the work of the sub committee during the approaching recess, which will have in hand the unfinished investigation in certain branches of industry, with special reference to the tariff. Nothing definite was arrived at.

The fight in the senate relative to the Roach resolution has been transferred to the executive session and is now in progress. An effort is being made to put the matter in a shape agreeable to both sides, but so far the effort has been unsuccessful.

WHO IS MAYOR?

Cleveland Officials Quarrel Over the Office.

Mr. Blee Was Elected to That Position, But Mr. Rose Refuses to Vacate the Chair.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 11.—Mayor elect Blee called at the city hall shortly after 8 o'clock this morning for the purpose of assuming the reins of city government. Mayor Rose had already reached his office and was calmly holding down the executive chair when his successor entered. After they had exchanged greetings Mr. Blee announced that he was there for the purpose of relieving Mr. Rose of his duties. The latter said he was willing to surrender if the director of law advised him to do so otherwise he would continue to act as mayor for another week. He emphasized his remarks in the most vigorous manner and accused Mr. Blee of a desire to get into office with indecent haste, for the purpose of helping the democratic office holders to secure an extra week's salary. Mr. Blee retorted that he was there for the purpose of heading off several schemes which he understood the present republican administration had in contemplation. Both gentlemen grew warm during the progress of the argument, and while taking pains to declare an undying friendship for each other passed some compliments that were calculated to be hair lifting. At 11 o'clock both mayors were playing a waiting game. General Meyer, the director of law, was sent for to decide whether Mr. Rose or Mr. Blee was mayor, and both declared an intention to remain where they were until the directors decision could be rendered.

AN INSANE JEW

Imagines He is the Brother of King Carlos.

LISBON, April 11.—It is officially stated that the reports of the attempted assassination yesterday afternoon of King Carlos was untrue. The stories had their origin in the antics of an insane Jew, named Solomon Azecote, who labors under the delusion that he is a brother to the king. Azecote says that when he saw his majesty driving up he wanted to have a chat with him and consequently made his way rapidly towards the king's carriage in order to enter it and converse with him. The man had no revolver or other weapon and therefore could not have shot at or otherwise attempted to injure King Carlos. Shortly after the incident and after Azecote had been placed in jail he was examined by several physicians, all of whom agreed in pronouncing him insane. This morning he was conveyed to an asylum.

KRUPP GUNS.

Two of Them Will Pass Through Here Tonight.

PITTSBURG, April 11.—The special train bearing the sixty-two ton and the forty-two ton Krupp guns for the world's fair passed through Pittsburg yesterday morning and should arrive in Chicago Thursday night. Owing to the immense weight of the guns and the liability of breaking down the train travels only during the day and never at a higher rate of speed than twenty miles an hour. The greatest trouble comes from hot journal boxes. Tubes run from the floor of the cars to the journal boxes and it is necessary to pour oil into them all the time to keep the journals cool. The 121 ton gun, the largest in the world, will reach Pittsburg Wednesday.

JAMES FLOOD ARRESTED.

He Is Said to be Short in His Accounts $194,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—James Flood, who was compelled to resign last week as cashier of Donohue & Kelly's bank because of irregularities in his accounts, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with embezzling $191,000 of the bank's funds. When Flood was first retired his friends said he could make good his shortage, which was caused by an overdraft by one of his assistants. Flood transferred his real estate to the bank, but since then it has been found his shortage was heavy.

Whisky Trust Officers.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 11.—It is understood here that at the meeting of the whisky trust in Peoria Wednesday, Hobart and Green will be re-elected, and the other vacancies will be filled by J. Walter Frieberg, of this city, and John Pegge and Sanford Fairbanks, both well-known Indiana distillers. It is said also that Louis Block, of this city, has been named for a place.

A Big Combine.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, April 11.—The scheme of New York capitalists to secure all the rolling mills and furnaces in the Mahoning Valley for $7,000,000, which has been in the hands of John A. Logan, jr., for some time, will be perfected in New York today. The purchasers will organize a company and operate all the plants under one management.

Burned to the Ground.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 11.—The extensive plant of the Dubuque Enamelling works was burned to the ground last night. The fire originated in the explosion of oil used in the heating of the furnaces. Loss $75,000, partially covered by insurance. Two watchmen were fatally burned.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

Labor and Capital Adjust Their Differences at Chicago.

The 4,000 Striking Employes at the World's Fair Buildings Return to Work Again.

CHICAGO, April 11.—The great strike at the world's fair is a thing of the past, and the men who walked out yesterday morning walked back again this morning, and ninety nine of every hundred will work for the same hours and the same pay they received before they struck.

For the first time since its inception organized labor came squarely in contact with the United States government and the right of the employer to hire non union or union men was insisted upon by the national representatives and acknowledged by the union. For twelve hours yesterday the results of the painstaking expenditure of more than twenty millions, the good name of the nation and its pledges were imperilled, while the men who reaped the benefits of the expenditure of that money argued with the men who controlled, over a question of five cents an hour and the rights of men to think and act as they please, within the law. At 10 o'clock last night a meeting between the council of administration and representatives of the building trades council, came to an agreement which is to continue throughout the exposition, and under which further trouble is impossible. The men have received a formal concession of a minimum rate of wages and have yielded to the demand of the exposition officials that they may employ any man, whether he be or be not a member of any labor organization.

The strike was a strike of labor leaders attempting to unionize the fair, a majority of men leaving work willingly. Several altercations grew out of attempts to force the men to quit. The first man arrested was E. Heineman, a striking carpenter, who interfered with men disposed to work. Oswald Winbald was too forcible in his arguments and was taken into custody. John Matthews and William Hughes were arrested for fighting and Edward Morris for causing a riot from which resulted several cracked heads, bloody noses and black eyes. The union men were taken from the ground by guards, leaving the non-unionists in possession.

SHIPPERS WILL WIN

In their Struggle With the Strikers in Hull to Employ Such Men as they Please.

LONDON, April 11.—The situation in Hull today is quite gloomy for the strikers, and, to judge from present indications, the shipping federation will win in its struggle to employ such men, union, or non union, as its members please.

Four hundred additional non-union men arrived in Hull today to take the places of unionists who had quit work. They were at once placed to work. There are now altogether 2,000 non-unionists at work on the docks and it is thought that no assault will be made upon them as they are protected by dragoons and policemen.

Most of the strikers see their chances of winning daily becoming less. They evince a decidedly ugly feeling, but, with the precautions already taken, further riotous demonstrations about the wharves are not apprehended. The union men however attempt to create disturbances in other parts of the town.

This morning as a train conveying a number of "black legs," as the strikers term them, was entering the town it was stoned by a number of men who had ensconced themselves along the railway embankment. Beyond the smashing of the windows of the coaches no damage was done. When the train had passed the mob dispersed, and when the police arrived on the scene the line was formed.

The firms in Hull engaged in the timber carrying trade who, since the beginning of the strike have let their vessels remain idle, announced today that unless their employees resume work at once other men will be engaged to fill their places. The members of the "shipping federation" express themselves as confident of beating the strikers. The riotous acts of the latter have done much to destroy public sympathy. Any further attempt at rioting will be promptly suppressed by the police, who are vigilant.

SHOT AND KILLED.

Cal Streets Killed Because He Stoned Moriarity's House.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 11.—John Moriarity shot and killed Cal Streets here yesterday afternoon. Sunday night Moriarity's house was stoned and the windows and doors broken. Late yesterday afternoon Moriarity met Streets and, with an oath, said, "I'll teach you to stone my house," and shot Streets in the breast, killing him instantly. Moriarity was arrested and put in jail. He said he was mistaken in his man and had not intended to kill Streets as the latter had done nothing.

HALL AND SLAVIN

Sign Articles and Will Box for a Big Purse.

LONDON, April 11.—Jim Hall and Frank P. Slavin met yesterday and signed articles to box for the best purse offered, the contest to take place in Derby week. Mitchell offered to back Hall to box Slavin before the Bolingbroke club for a £500 purse and £1,000 a side. Slavin was prepared to post [illegible] at the National club, for a [illegible] Slavin's backers are members of the National club, while Hall's backers are Bolingbroke people; hence a split, and the contest is open to any other clubs offering the best purse.

RIOT IN KANSAS.

A Mob Attacks a Jail and Takes Out a Prisoner.

They Intended to Hang Him, but Got to Quarrel Among Themselves and He is Rescued.

TOPEKA, Kas., April 11.—A mob hung about the Salina jail all last night and was constantly increased by recruits from neighboring towns, who came in by the train load to participate in the lynching of Hudson, the negro who ravished Mrs. Frost last week, and murdered her infant child. For a long time the mob was deterred from action because of the fact that reputable witnesses swore that Hudson was at a farm six miles out of the city, notwithstanding Mrs. Frost positively identified him. An assault was finally made on the jail about 11 o'clock, so positive was Mrs. Frost that the prisoner was her assailant. This attack was not successful, being resisted by the guards with little trouble. The mutterings of the mob grew as its numbers increased, and the excitement became intense as the night wore away. The negro residents of Salina took sides with the prisoner and clashes between whites and blacks were narrowly averted several times. It was nearly 3 o'clock before the mob made the attack on the jail which resulted in the capture of the prisoner. A rope was placed around his neck as he passed through the door of the jail and he was dragged through the streets with a mob numbering thousands of men crowding after him. The jail yard had scarcely been left when the mob began to quarrel about the prisoner, and before three blocks had been traversed it broke out in a riot.

One of the guards struck T. L. Harvey over the head with his gun and it is thought that he is fatally injured. J. L. Bristow, editor of the Salina Republican, was also seriously injured. Several others of the mob were injured to a greater or less extent. While the fight was going on attention was directed from the mob's victim, and, before it was known, Hudson had been run off from the mob and placed in the National hotel, where he is now closely guarded. The dispute among the members of the mob arose over the question of the prisoner's innocence. This morning comparative quiet prevails. Unless Hudson's innocence is thoroughly established today nothing can prevent his being lynched tonight.

THE OLIVER TRAGEDY.

Excitement Over It Continues Unabated in Kentucky.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 11.—The excitement over the Oliver tragedy at Morganfield and Sturgis, in Union county, Kentucky, has not abated and the entire county is still worked up over the affair. It is given out that friends of the Olivers and other Sturgis citizens have organized a body to lynch the prisoners if justice is not administered properly at the examining trial Saturday. It is also stated that friends of the prisoners have organized and will resist any such attempt.

Taylor Oliver, the wounded father, is still hovering between life and death. It is believed that his death will tend to further excite the mob and violence will then be feared more than ever. The ninth man wanted by the authorities is Frank Carter, and it is reported that Detective Henry Spencer has captured him. The guard at the Morganfield jail was doubled last night on request of the prisoners. The officers fear nothing, but the prisoners seem to be in fear of a mob. There is a heavy guard around the jail, which will offer every resistance to a mob.

SEEKING CLEMENCY.

Harris' Attorneys Appeal to Governor Flower.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—William F. Howe, of New York city, counsel for Carlyle W. Harris, was given a private audience by Governor Flower this morning.

At its conclusion Mr. Howe said the governor listened intently while he gave a brief review of the case, and the points on which he thought clemency should be granted Harris.

Mr. Howe argued that the testimony of Mrs. Potts was unreliable and that sufficient evidence had been produced to show that Mrs. Carlisle W. Harris was an opium eater.

He also called the governor's attention to the petition filed yesterday, which he said contained 15,000 signatures.

Mr. Howe also left eleven letters from prominent people favoring a commutation of the sentence.

The governor said, after Mr. Howe left, that he could not tell how soon he would reach a decision, but he would carefully consider the case.

RUMORS OF TROUBLE.

The Lake Shore Must Reinstate Seven Engineers.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 11.—The seven engineers and firemen on the Lake Shore railroad, who severed their connection with the road during the recent Ann Arbor strike in refusing to handle the boycotted freight, will wait upon General Superintendent Canniff on Friday and ask to be reinstated. Should their reinstatement be refused it is reported that a general strike on the Lake Shore will result.

Misses [illegible] and Martha Cooper, of [illegible] are visiting their [illegible] Mrs. John Koch, of 47 Clay street.

HE IS DEAD.

Ex-President Gonzales Joins the Hosts on the Other Shore.

And Thus is One of the Most Interesting Figures in Mexican History Removed.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 11.—Ex-President Manuel Gonzales died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The family, President Diaz and other friends were at his bedside. He told his friends to obey and honor Diaz. One of the most interesting figures in modern Mexican history has been removed by the death of General Gonzales. As a citizen and soldier, commander of the army, a leader in revolution, minister of war and president, and in the political exile of his closing years, he always excited the interest of his countrymen. General Gonzales was born near Matamoras in 1820 and joined the army at the age of nineteen. At the age of thirty he was one of the leaders in the civil war of Mexico and was found fighting with the reactionary party under the guerilla chief Cobos. In 1861 General Gonzales offered his sword to the liberal leader, Juarez. Then the allied armies of France, England and Spain invaded Mexico. He attended the president of the republic in his flight from the capital, after which he made a countermarch to the mountain of Hidalgo, where he remained until 1865, making frequent incursions upon the enemy. Toward the end of 1865 he made a successful march through the forces of the enemy and joined General Escobedo. For gallant service he was promoted colonel in 1866 and brigadier general in 1867, which year he entered the capital with a victorious command. Gonzales served through the memorable defense of Puebla and it was in the campaign of which this engagement was part that he first met Diaz, and a friendship was formed that never wavered. Gonzales lost an arm at Puebla. In the revolution of 1891 Gonzales joined Diaz. After varying fortunes the force of Gonzales turned the battle of Lomas, which virtually decided the overthrow of Lerdo's government. A few days later Don Diaz entered the Mexican capital in triumph and established a provisional government, appointing Gonzales minister of war. In June, 1880, he resigned the portfolio of war to become a candidate for president. He received a handsome majority over the various candidates and assumed the functions of the office in December, 1880. During Gonzales' term as president he decreed high import duties on foreign manufacturers, doubled the stamp duty and debased the currency by the issue of a great quantity of nickel coins. With these acts to his discredit he did much to win popularity by grants of valuable franchises, by the encouragement of immigration and by bringing to Mexico great quantities of foreign capital for the development of the natural resources of the country. His financial vagaries resulted in a depleted treasury and a great disturbance of Mexican credit.

The result was that in 1884 he was compelled to resign the government, General Diaz being elected to succeed him. The administration of Gonzales will be remembered to his credit because he settled frontier troubles, that had been a source of annoyance to his government for sixty years and negotiated important commercial treaties with various countries in Europe. At the end of his presidential term, he was unanimously elected governor of the state of Guanajuato. In the following year a resolution was presented in congress charging him with the misappropriation of public funds during his presidency. It was referred to the grand jury but was never pressed. Since 1887 Gonzales has not been prominent in Mexican public life.

ASKS FOR A DIVORCE.

Fred Helling, Jr., Brings a Suit for Divorce from His Wife.

The Wet Day Outside Makes a Dry Day in the Courts and No Startling News is Gathered.

Through his attorneys, W. and L. Leonard, Fred W. Helling, jr., the son of the well known ice dealer, brings suit in the circuit court for a divorce from his wife, Augusta Helling. The charges are sensational, but as Mr. Leonard, the plaintiff's attorney, carries the petition around in his pockets, the newspaper reporters cannot reveal them to the public.

COURT CULLINGS.

Thos. D. Walker and Elizabeth Schinder, Lemuel Vanderly and Mary S. Gladious, John Hill and Della Rood have been licensed to wed.

Justice Ryan sent nine leg tramps to jail this morning.

Justice France will hear the case against Wm. Blakesley for wife desertion on the 25th of this month.

In the case of Al Spaulding and Willard Spaulding against Mrs. Brown on attachment, Justice France gave judgment for $3 and issued an order of sale for the property attached.

In the case of Almira Scott vs the Wells estate, the circuit court has awarded to the plaintiff a judgment for $2,057. M. V. B. Spencer is attorney for the plaintiff.

Alice McMahon has sold to Emanuel S. Kegg lots 23 and 24, Hoagland & Williams' addition, for $700. Ellen H. Wagenhals to George J. Tuckey, lot 229, Hamilton's fourth addition, for $775. E. P. Williams to James F. Goodfellow, lots 195 and 196, Williams' addition for $2,500.

Justices France and Wilkinson, with Doctors Gatshall and Googan, went to Arcola this morning to examine into the mental condition of Mrs. Latilda Gubler. The lady walks the floor continually and frequently, without cause, bursts into tears. She sleeps but very little and indulges in all sorts of imaginative freaks. She will be adjudged insane and taken to a hospital.

CHICAGO STREET ROW.

A Father and Little Child Hurt by Two Brothers—A "Peeper" Sent to Jail.

Reports of a serious row on Chicago street a few evenings ago have reached the ears of the city police but as yet no arrests have been made. It seems that early on the evening mentioned two brothers called at the residence of their married sister, residing on that street, and began abusing her. One of the young men struck the lady, who had her seven-weeks old baby boy in her arms. The mother fell to the floor and she and her infant were both badly hurt. About this time the husband and father returned from work in the shops and the battle was resumed. In this round the head of the household was badly used up. One rib is fractured and the man is hurt otherwise. A physician is attending the father and child.

A PEEPING TOM.

Last night residents on the east side notified the police that a drunken man was peeping into windows and making himself otherwise obnoxious. Shortly after 11 o'clock John Ryan, son of Marketmaster Ryan, was awakened from his sleep by a noise at his window. In the darkness he saw a man screening his eyes so that he could look into the room. John arose hastily and dressed himself. He rushed out of the door and after the rascal, catching him after quite a chase, and landing him at the station house. The fellow gave his name as Hans Reinhart and was booked for drunkenness. This morning he was sent to jail for eleven days. Residents of South Wayne have lately been annoyed by a man who acts somewhat similar. An effort was made this morning to identify Reinhart as the man, but there are some doubts as to his being the fellow.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Two Subjects of Interest Before That Body Tonight.

It is probable that at the meeting of the city council tonight the committee to whom was referred the resolution to increase the city saloon license to $250 will make no report, the opponents of the high license movement believing that delay will finally enable them to defeat the measure.

The committee consists of Messrs. Freeman, Hanna and Hazzard. If they do not make a report Councilman DeVilbiss will move that each member of the committee be given ten minutes in which to make an individual report on the matter. He is opposed to delay and believes this matter ought to be settled at once.

At the meeting of the council tonight another interesting matter will come up, viz: the selection of a councilman from the Sixth ward. Two names will be presented, James Conroy and Harry Koplanke.

The primary election in the Sixth ward when Mr. Conroy was selected was regular in every respect and was held in accordance with a call issued by Chairman Emrick and published in THE SENTINEL. Mr. Conroy will no doubt be chosen.

HE WAS INSANE.

RAILROAD TAX CASES.

The Cases will be Argued at the Next Term of Court.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Chief Justice Fuller has announced the decision of the supreme court upon the petition of counsel in the Indiana railroad tax cases to advance them on the docket. The petition was granted and the cases set down for argument on the second Monday of next term. In the cases involved the constitutionality of the new tax law of Indiana, the railroads holding that the law permits and the tax officers exercise a practically confiscatory rate as applied to the property of the corporations. In the state courts the law has been upheld.

MINE WORKERS MEET.

They Discuss the Scale of Wages and Other Matters.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 11.—The United Mine Workers of America met in convention here at 10 o'clock this morning. All the officers and about 150 delegates were present. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia, Colorado, Kansas and several other states were represented. The chief purpose of the convention is to discuss the scale of wages. President McBride appointed committees on rules, distribution, resolutions, constitution and grievances. At noon the convention took a recess until 1:30.

MURDERED THEIR FATHER.

Thomas Morgan and His Three Sisters Sent to Prison.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 11.—Thomas Morgan and his three sisters, Jennie, Rebecca and Caroline, entered the western penitentiary this morning. They will receive long sentences for the murder of their father, John Morgan, near Waynesburg, Greene county, last August. John Morgan was a prosperous farmer, worth about $10,000. The four children, ranging from seventeen years to twenty-eight years, lived with their father and were popular in the neighborhood. John Morgan installed a strange woman as housekeeper who was objectionable to the children. The old gentleman was deaf to their entreaties and frequent quarrels occurred, finally resulting in a terrible tragedy. The father was driven from his house to an out building and shot by his son Thomas. During the fight Thomas unintentionally shot his sister Caroline in the breast, from the effects of which she has now barely recovered. The sentences imposed by the court are Thomas, twelve years; Rebecca, ten years, Caroline, ten years, and Jennie three years.

Serious Runaway Accident on East Jefferson Street.

Benjamin Toby, a Brakeman, Pinched at Plymouth While Coupling Cars—Other Accidents.

This morning about 10 o'clock, Louis Leake, a teamster in the employ of Contractor Charles Werneth, had a narrow escape from serious injury on East Jefferson street. Mr. Leake's horse was hitched to a post and became frightened at an electric light car. The driver seeing his animal begin to run hastened after it and sprang into the wagon. He succeeded in getting hold of the lines, but a second later the vehicle was upset in a gutter, and the driver spilled out. However, he held onto the lines and was dragged through the mud about two squares. He finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Mr. Leake was quite badly bruised and the wagon was smashed into splinters.

Louis White, a well known farmer of Washington township, was last week kicked by a vicious horse while engaged in plowing. An arm and leg were badly hurt.

Benjamin Toby, a Pittsburg brakeman, last night had his right arm badly pinched while making a coupling at Plymouth. He was brought to this city and is at his boarding place, the Jewel house. Dr. Stemen attended.

A startling runaway occurred on Columbia street shortly after the noon hour today. A team of horses owned by Heuncke & Benedict became frightened and ran. They collided with a farmer's buggy demolishing it and then ran into a farm wagon, throwing the occupants out onto the sidewalk. It was miraculous that no one was killed outright. The damage to the vehicles will be considerable.

Emmet Dunfee, a resident of Lakeside, this morning had his right hand caught in a shaper at the Olds wagon works, where he was employed. Dr. Miller amputated the thumb and index and second fingers.

GETTING MANY SIGNERS.

The Petition Circulated by the Ladies for a Public Library.

The women of the Club League who are working for the establishment of a public library, have nearly finished circulating the petition among the people. Yesterday the monster petition was increased by the addition of 600 names of mechanics from the Pittsburg shops, and a few days ago nearly 400 employes of the Fort Wayne Electric company expressed their desire to help along the work by adding their names to the petition.

One of the ladies who is circulating the petition, says: "Already the names are up in the thousands and the city council can never turn a deaf ear to the voice of the people so clearly expressed. The mechanics and working classes readily recognize that this is a movement that will especially benefit them. Very few of them are able to own libraries of their own yet they desire, both for themselves and their children, the refining and educating influences that spring from the reading and study of the best books. The women of Fort Wayne have never undertaken a work that they feel will be more fully appreciated than the establishment of a public library."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Edward McCanley Dies at Dilley, Oregon—Other Deaths.

Edward L. McCanley, keeper of a saloon at 101 Calhoun street, died at Dilley, Oregon, Sunday morning at 3:20 o'clock of dyspepsia. His brother, J. J. McCanley, was on the way to Edward's bedside, having started at 1:30 Sunday morning. At Chicago he received a telegram informing him that his brother was dead, but went on to get the remains and accompany the body back to this city. The funeral will be held next Sunday. The deceased was a single man thirty-five years old. Last year he went to Ireland visiting old friends and several relatives at Belfast. He returned to Fort Wayne, and a few weeks ago went to the Pacific slope hoping to regain his health. He was a man of many good qualities. HER NEIGHBORS KNOW

And Now She Wishes that Everybody Should Know All the Facts.

For that Reason She Makes a True and Straightforward Statement.

The friends and neighbors of Mrs. Ira Henderson, who resides at Almeda, Mich., know all about the matter, and she now wishes that everybody should know all the facts just as they occurred.

"For nearly four years," she says, "I had suffered. I was so nervous that I could not write or read, and could not even bear my children's company. I would have such a strange feeling in my head it seemed as if I should lose my mind.

"I was very weak and nervous and would get in a tremble and my heart would beat so hard that it would almost take my life. I would have dizzy spells and what little sleep I would get did me no good. I could not eat anything that tasted right. It did not seem everything had changed. I was greatly depressed and thought it only the Lord would enable me to keep my mind until I could get help.

"I doctored for two years without benefit, and then I took Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I received help right away and I could feel that the first bottle was helping me. I cannot be thankful enough. I have recommended it to others and they have been helped by it.

MRS. IRA HENDERSON.

"It has also cured my little girl of a nervous trouble. She would get up in her sleep and be out of her head. At such times she would talk strange and it would be some time before she would know where she was. She is all right now and we praise Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy for the cure.

"My neighbors and friends know how I have suffered from weakness and nervous disease. I have lived here forty years and am known to all. I do wish I could help every sufferer to a bottle of this wonderful medicine so that all might be cured."

It is by the wide spread publication of facts like these that the great curative powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy can be made known to every invalid and sufferer in the land. It is true that this medicine performs astonishing cures and all who are ailing should avail themselves of its wonderful powers.

Almost everybody needs a spring medicine and this is the best and surest remedy to put you in perfect health. It is purely vegetable and harmless and is kept by druggists for $1. Physicians and druggists recommend it highly because they have seen it cure numberless sick people and because it is the prescription and discovery of the well known physician, Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th street, New York, the successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

April is giving us weather in bitter and sweet doses.

The Peruvian government will apologize for the outrages committed upon our consular agent at Peru.

Chicago is to be congratulated upon the peaceful termination of the world's fair strike, which was inaugurated yesterday.

Warren township, Huntington county, claims the distinction of having no resident wanting an office of any kind. The solitary peace justice in that township has resigned.

The thirtieth international convention of the Y. M. C. A. of North America will convene in Indianapolis during the month of May, beginning the 10th and continuing until the 14th.

The democrats of New Haven yesterday nominated the following ticket. Henry Koehn, trustee, second ward; John Beugnot, Third ward; William Stocks, jr., treasurer; S. J. Stocks, clerk; Henry Grabner, marshal.

It wouldn't take the American hen very long to pay off our national debt. A statistician has discovered that there are 125,000,000 hens in the United States, and that they annually lay 6,000,000,000 eggs, which, at present prices would be worth $150,000,000, or almost half as much as the entire wheat crop of the country.

The records at the office of the secretary of state show that large sums of money are being invested in the state at present by local and foreign capitalists. The number of new companies that have been organized and incorporated in Indiana since January 1 has been the largest in the history of the secretary's office. The total amount of capital the companies and associations represent is about $15,000,000.

For the highest grade of gall the Journal takes the cake. Not content with trying to run everything that is loose around the county and city governments, and attempting to frighten Mr. McNagny into giving them the postoffice, it now seeks to dictate to the trustees of the feeble minded institute who they shall appoint as superintendent of that school. The trustees will be in no hurry in this matter and will not make an appointment until they have found the right man and one who is competent in every respect.

Children's day is the grand jubilee of the Sunday school year. It is an inter-denominational festival and one purely American in origin and adoption. While the birth and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ are of general commemoration throughout the length and breadth of the land, the churches are more or less individual in their preparation for the event. Children's day, however, strikes the keynote for simultaneous service of praise and prayer for all Evangelical churches, and as many as 6,000,000 children unite their hearts and voices in honor of the day. This year the festival falls on June 11, and many of the Sunday schools are now engaged in the selection of suitable programs.

The Mysteries of Suicide.

A Connecticut man took poison and proceeded to make written notes of his sensations. He was saved from death in the nick of time. His methodical manner of preparing for death and his devotion to science prove that he is a man of ability, who had no right to sacrifice a life with which he might do good. It is possible to imagine conditions under which a logical mind could discover some justification for suicide, remarks the Washington Star, but it is not the people whom disease has reduced to the verge of abject helplessness, mental and physical, and as a rule take their own lives. The vigorous, healthy people, whose ambitions are lofty and whose energies are great, seem most susceptible to the temptation of self-destruction. The intensity of an energetic nature makes the step from disappointment to despair the more easily taken. Theorists are interesting when they argue that people who are ready to leave the world should be allowed to do so, but as a matter of fact the laws which interfere with attempts in this direction as a rule reach people whose spirits recuperate almost as rapidly as they droop and who live to wonder how they could ever have contemplated such a step.

A patent-right man has been working hard in Pennsylvania towns and villages trying to sell territory for a "burglar exterminator" which has great points of simplicity and effectiveness. When the burglar raises the window sash to enter the room he sets machinery in motion which, when he rests his whole weight on the sill, and projects his body across, drops a tremendous knife admirably calculated to cut an ordinary man clean in two. There is no argument against the effectiveness of the exterminator, but people seem to object to it for some reason or other, and the patent-right man is not doing very well. While most householders do not object to the guillotine as a punishment for housebreakers, they are somewhat averse to having their premises cluttered up with the raw remains of hashed-up malefactors.

Business rivalries cause a good many little frauds. A merchant explains why: "As soon as I get up a good thing, say in chocolate—but it would be the same if it were candy, butter, carpet, handkerchiefs, paints or pills—some rival will imitate it in quality and put it on the market at a lower rate. To hold my own I've got to cut his price, but as I can't do that and make a profit I must adulterate the article a little. He knows the dodge and he will do the same thing. So we go, cutting at each other, until both of our articles are so cheap and poor that nobody will buy them. Then I start the pure goods again under another name, and the whole circus has to be gone over again."

There are at present 1,650 cities and towns in the United States equipped with electric lights. It is interesting to note that Pennsylvania takes the lead with 150 towns, New York and Illinois following with 147 and 133 respectively, and that in the first state there are no less than 32 new lighting corporations which have not yet commenced business. There are over 500 railways operated by electricity in the country, and 300 more incorporated holding franchises allowing the use of electric power.

The area of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, is three million square miles. Over one hundred surveyors are now employed in surveying and preparing maps of the country, and about one-fifth of the whole area has already been surveyed during the ten years in which the work has been in progress. About sixty thousand square miles are annually surveyed, and it is estimated that it will require forty years more to complete the map.

A Georgia man dreamed that some one stole his watch from his trunk. He saw the robber in his dream. On awakening he found his watch gone. He went to town and soon saw and recognized the thief that he had seen in the dream, whose arrest followed, and the watch was found on his person. This one is a little out of season, but it will go, most likely, as the crop of serpentine literature is a little slow in coming in.

There is a lake in the state of Maryland, near Chestertown, that is known as Still Pond, because it has never been known to be ruffled or disturbed by the most violent storms. Another peculiarity of this lake is that even during the recent cold weather there was not a skim of ice on its surface, and it is not known ever to have been frozen.

"In the throngs of women met in the shopping districts of the city, where mothers and daughters are frequently seen together," said a New York city promenader recently, "it is a common sight to see the daughter taller than the mother—a striking illustration of the improvement of the race in this age and country."

A Vicksburg (Mich.) man had twelve light Brahma hens that laid seventy dozen of eggs between March 15 and November 1 last. From them thirty-eight chickens were raised, eleven of which weighed sixty-one pounds.

A recent report from the Kansas agricultural college conveys the information that there are more farmers' children educated in that institution than in any other similar college in the country.

One of the great advantages of a "soft job" over a "grind" is shown by the fact that in manufacturing operations the average life of soap boilers is highest and that of grindstone makers is lowest.

California legislators must have very delicate skins. They got mad at an editorial squib in an evening journal of Sacramento, and in their anger resolved to move the capital to some city where editors did not criticise. The people of California will doubtless change the Legislature, instead of changing the capital.

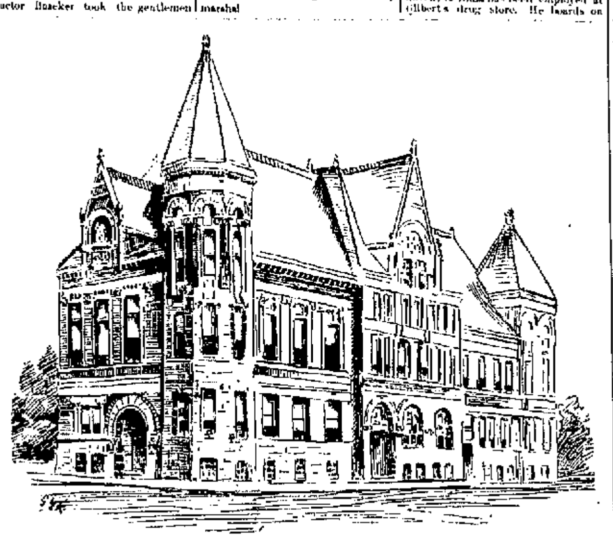
THE CITY'S PRIDE.

Formal Acceptance of Our Fine, Public Building.

Description of the Interior of the Handsome Structure—Complete in Every Detail.



THE NEW CITY HALL.

Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mayor Zollinger, accompanied by all the members of the city council, City Attorney Shambaugh and other officials met at the new city building on the corner of Barr and Berry streets with Contractor Christian Boseker. The object of the meeting was the formal inspection of the new city hall in view of the acceptance of the structure at the regular session of the common council this evening. Contractor Boseker took the gentlemen from cellar to garret, as it were, and almost the entire afternoon was taken up in thumping walls, pounding floors and making a careful and critical view of the entire building.

THE EXTERIOR.

The exterior of this new building presents a pleasing affect to the eye on account of the beauty of the architectural design and the skill and finish of the workmanship. The material used is Michigan sandstone, similar to that of the government building. About the slate roof is an ornamentation of red tile which adds greatly to the beauty of the building. There are three large entrances to the building, besides several smaller ones. The main entrance is on Berry street and over this, in letters carved from the heavy stone, is the following:

"THE CITY BUILDING."

There is a wide entrance on the Barr street side and two in the rear facing the market square. One of these is for the patrol wagon and the other for the use of the police department. The carvings about all these entrances are particularly fine and add greatly to the appearance of the building.

THE INTERIOR.

Entering the main doorway on the Berry street side a short flight of several steps leads to a wide hallway paved with marble blocks. To the right is the city clerk's office. It is furnished, as are all the rooms, in solid polished oak. The trimmings are of oxidized metal. Directly opposite the clerk's office, and to the left of the entrance, is the city treasurer's office. It is furnished in a manner similar to that of the clerk's office. In the rear of each of these two offices are private rooms for the use of the clerk and treasurer. Passing on down the hallway and to the right of the Barr street entrance, is the water works office. This is a spacious room, elegantly furnished with counters and other appurtenances necessary for such an office. At present it is the only office on the first floor which is carpeted. On this floor is an elegant body Brussels carpet of tasty pattern. This office has the appearance of a committee room, being provided with tables and chairs. One of the tables is a particularly fine large one, costing $85. It is of solid, polished oak and some twenty feet in length.

THE SECOND FLOOR.

Ascending the broad flight of stairs another roomy hallway is encountered. Northward, and to the right, one passes two large committee rooms and enters the spacious council chamber. This is the most imposing room in the building. It occupies almost the entire north half of the second floor. It has a seating capacity of three or four hundred persons outside of the space occupied by the twenty city councilmen. The west third of the room is divided off by an oak railing having an oxidized metallic bar at the top. Each councilman sits within this enclosure at a small individual desk. These twenty little desks are very neatly gotten up. The desk of the mayor is much larger and is elevated from the floor some distance. Back of his honor's chair is a large oaken panel, exquisitely carved. In the center is the city seal, also carved in the oak. Three pictures at present adorn the council chamber. They are large oil paintings of Washington, Lincoln and Lafayette. In a short time the walls will be further beautified by a large sized picture of the members of the present city council. This picture is now being enlarged in the east from a photograph recently taken in this city. The council chamber is carpeted with heavy body Brussels. The fine chandelier, which is to illuminate the room, has not yet arrived, but from the pattern it appears to be a fine one. At the left of the mayor's desk is one for the clerk and at the right for the city marshal.

Adjoining the council chamber are the city attorney's and mayor's offices. The floor in the city attorney's room is covered with a pretty pattern of linoleum. The mayor's office and private room adjoining are both carpeted with heavy body Brussels. A handsome combination mantel and fire place is in one room and also an easy, leather covered couch.

Passing on down the hall one is shown the offices of the board of health and street commissioner. Neither are very large, as compared with the other rooms, but are sufficiently commodious. The city engineer occupies three rooms in the extreme south end of the building on this floor.

THE THIRD FLOOR.

Upon the third floor is a large hall which is to be used for public addresses and assemblages of different kinds. The walls are tinted and look very neat. Just such a room as this has long been needed in Fort Wayne. This room, as are all the rest in the building, is heated by steam and lighted by both electricity and artificial gas.

POLICE COURT ROOM.

The police court room is on the first floor and in the extreme southern end of the building. For many years to come criminals of all kinds will be gathered here to receive the wages of sin. In front of the police judge's desk is a neat table thoughtfully provided for the reporters.

THE POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

Directly beneath the police court rooms in the basement is the office of the chief of police and headquarters of the police force. The main room is commodious and comfortable. Adjoining, is the cell room in which are eight cells for males and one for females. The cells are strongly and neatly made. The floor here is paved with cement. A few steps from the cell room is a good sized apartment thoughtfully provided for the poor tramp and the unfortunates who have nowhere to lay their heads. About this room are a number of quite hard benches. The floor is also cement.

A BRONZE TABLET.

"To the Memory of Samuel Hanna,
The Donor of this Building Site,
The City of Fort Wayne
Dedicates this Tablet."

This tablet is quite a work of art and is a fitting tribute to the citizen, now long since deceased, whose generosity provided the city with so fine a building site and market space.

CONTRACTOR AND WORK.

The contractor of the work, Christian Boseker, deserves much credit for the quick time made upon the building. Ever since the plans were turned over to him by the architects, Messrs. Wing & Mahurin, last spring, the work has been pushed. As a result Contractor Boseker finished the building almost three months before the specified time for its completion. To the city the building has been an exceedingly cheap one—the total cost not exceeding $65,000, including furnishings and all. The council committees having charge of the work deserve great credit also by their attention to the work. The committee on public grounds and buildings composed of Councilmen W. D. Myers, chairman, W. D. Pettit and Philip Keinz, have selected an official engraving of the building which will be used upon all the stationery.

WILL BE ACCEPTED.

There is but little doubt but what the building will be formally accepted by the common council at their session this evening and after today the building will be in charge of the city. The city officials will probably move the latter part of this week and the police department some time next week.

The building is insured for $40,000, eight local agencies having each placed $5,000 worth of risks.

The janitor in charge of the city building is Harrison DeHaven, who has one lady assistant.

It is the intention to have a formal dedication, or "house warming" some time in the near future. The public will then be invited to call and inspect the building. An appropriate program will be arranged.

The wrong way, with Catarrh, is to stop it without curing it. The poisonous, irritating snuffs, strong caustic solutions, "creams," balms and the like may, perhaps, palliate for a time. But they may drive the disease to the lungs.

The wrong way is full of danger.

The right way is a proved one. It's with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures, perfectly and permanently, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh. It has proved itself right, thousands of times, when everything else has failed.

And this makes its proprietors willing to prove that it's the right thing for you, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing:

They mean it.

They're certain of their medicine.

SAME OLD STORY.

The Names Have Only Been Changed for Lima's Sake.

Lima, Ohio, was treated to a sensational street scene the other day. It seems that Fred Schulteneuber's tongue got him into trouble. Fred is a young fellow and came to Lima from Dayton several months ago. He is a pharmaceutical student, and since his advent to Lima has been employed at Gilbert's drug store. He boards on east Wayne street, and when he was coming from supper was given a very unpleasant surprise.

Freddie was suddenly confronted by three young ladies and a young man. Two of the young ladies were Misses Anna and Julia McGrievy. The former young lady acted as spokeswoman, and called Frederick down in the most approved style for certain stories which she claimed were false, and had been circulated about herself and sister Julia.

As Miss McGrievy read him her mind she became more and more agitated, and, drawing a whip from the folds of her dress, she plied it vigorously upon Freddy, and he took back everything he had said. After convincing herself that Freddy had been taught a lesson that would last him a lifetime he was allowed to proceed on his way unmolested, and the party withdrew.

A Corpse on the Engine.

One of the strangest incidents ever chronicled in railroad circles occurred at Youngstown, Ohio, the other night. Engineer Curly Cummings of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad brought his train in from Pittsburg at 6:30 and, while examining the locomotive prior to entering the round-house, found the corpse of a man lying on the pilot, held in place by the snow shovel. Nothing was known by Engineer Cummings as to when he struck the unfortunate man, but later it was learned that while the train was running near Lowellville the man was struck and hurled into the pilot. He was identified as Robert Lewis, an iron worker.

Where the Camellia Got Its Name.

Ferdinand VI. of Spain, while suffering under the hereditary melancholy from which he subsequently died, was pacing to and fro one December day in the year 1739 in his bedroom in the Palace Royal of Madrid. He was interrupted by the entrance of Maria Theresa, his Queen, who bounded gaily into the room. In her hand she held a flower of dazzling whiteness, which she presented to her husband. "A beautiful flower, but scentless," exclaimed the King, folding in his arms the wife whom he passionately loved. "It is the new flower of the Philippines," said the Queen. "I have kept the best for you." The flower which Maria Theresa brought to her husband a century and a half ago had been presented to her the previous day by a Jesuit missionary just returned from the Indies. Craving an audience from his sovereign he brought his offering, a small shrub with glossy green leaves, on which blossomed two magnificent white flowers, and which he had brought from the Island of Luzon, one of the Philippine group. It was about three feet in height and grew in a vase of mother-of-pearl. The Jesuit donor was named Camellia.

A Foul-Mouthed Woman.

is even worse than a foul-mouthed man. But no one need be foul-mouthed if they will only use SOZODONT and rub it in well. Don't spare the brush and spoil the mouth, as some parents do with their children when they withhold the rod.

The late Charles T. Bradley, of Milwaukee, evidently believed in the advantage of charity beginning at home. He died worth a million and a quarter and left it all to his wife, besides making her the sole executrix of his will.

"OLD JOHN BULL."

An Old Engine With an Interesting History.

She Is Resurrected from Her Tomb in a Museum and Prepared for a Trip to Chicago.

The best advertised exhibit that will be made at the approaching quadrocentennial at Chicago will be that primitive locomotive with the old-fashioned smokestack and the sidebar cowcatcher extended in front that made the first trip ever made with steam over the rails of the old Camden and Amboy railroad, says the New York Herald. With the two passenger cars that it used to be her wont to haul, this unique specimen of a steam motor is being put in running order at the company's shops on the Hackensack Meadows, and she will be the best advertised of the exhibits, because her trip across the country from Jersey City to Chicago will be sure to attract crowds of curiosity lovers all along the line of her travel.

The "Old John Bull"—it was by that name that she was known when she was in active service—has been resurrected from the dust of the national museum at Washington. The company did not deem it worth the while to store the two shambling passenger coaches that she used to haul away among the relics of history as it did the locomotive, and when they were wanted to fall in behind the "Old John Bull" again the company's agents had to hunt high and low to find them. But they were found in the most unexpected of places, and found to be doing the shabbiest kind of duty. Mr. Fenton, whose duty it was to hunt up the coaches, found one of them doing duty as a chicken coop on the farm of Capt Samuel Newton, at South Amboy, N. J. It was in a good state of preservation. The company has purchased the car from Captain Newton, and it is now undergoing repairs preparatory to being sent to Chicago. Placed by the side of one of our modern cars it is a curiosity.

The old John Bull was probably one of the very earliest patterns of steam locomotives to which the rapid transit eye opening era was treated. Some say, in fact, that she was the first of her kind and stood so much ahead of anything else in her line that for a season every hauling machine that went by steam was familiarly called a "bull-gine." Mr. S. B. Docharty, the aged engineer who was then master mechanic of the Camden and Amboy, who is still living in jolly retirement in Bergen square, in Jersey City Heights, tells no end of romantic stories of the devices the company had to resort to in the early days to get their steam horses over the top of old Bergen hill, and it may be that the John Bull was only the most complete specimen of her kind in the country, and from that fact won the notoriety she enjoyed among steam motors.

The "John Bull" was built in England in the very early 30's and sent here to this country on the packet Allegheny. The packet carried her—in sections, of course—up the Delaware to Bordentown. There her parts were adjusted to each other, and a Bordentown cobbler fitted her for active duty by fitting the leather hose that connected the boiler with the pump. A whisky hogshead on a four wheeled platform car constituted her tender.

When she had thus been set up for the trial trip the legislature and the rest of the people were invited to Bordentown to see her go over the little three-quarter mile stretch of track that at that time comprised all there was of the Camden and Amboy railroad. For two years she lay there a mere object of curiosity. Then, in 1831, she was given work to do, and began making regular trips over the road. It was not till 1866 that she was withdrawn. Then there came a long season of disuse. She became covered with the dust of ages. Her room was thought better than her company, and the railroad officials, for want of something better to do with her, shipped her to Washington as a historical relic.

The "John Bull" had nine-inch cylinders, one pair of driving wheels four feet six inches in diameter, and a pair of ordinary wheels with cast iron hub and spokes and rim of wood and tires of wrought iron, and weighed all told about ten tons. She cost the railway company about $4,000—about one-third the cost of a modern engine.

R. K. Renfrew this morning resumed his duties in the Pittsburg shops after an absence of over six months on account of sickness.

Miss Lizzie Klutz, formerly an employe of the electric light works, will soon be married to Joseph Forkey, of the Muncie shops.

A. H. Polhamus, road foreman of engines on the Pittsburg, went to Crestline this morning to accompany the special to Chicago.

Johnston Campbell has taken charge of the elevator at the electric light works and the former elevator boy, John McKain, has taken a position in the machine room.

Miss Minnie Heckler has been promoted to the position in the instrument testing room at the electric light works made vacant by the resignation of Miss Georgia Fordney.

The shipments from the electric light works today were a 1,300 incandescent plant to Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and a 200 incandescent plant to the Girard Iron company, Girard, Ohio.

Engineer C. D. Newell, of the Pittsburg, fell from his engine at Crestline yesterday, alighting on his shoulders. He was considerably bruised and will be unable to work for a few days.

Pittsburg engines Nos. 105 and 151, recently turned out of the shops after a thorough overhauling, have just returned from their trial trip. Both are pronounced perfect in every respect.

The statement that Henry Mennewish had resigned at the Pittsburg machine shop appears to have been an error. Mr. Mennewish was off duty only for a few days, and is at work again.

R. R. Bartell and Frank Forbing, employes of the Pittsburg car shop, will quit the service of the company tonight. Mr. Bartell has accepted a clerical position in the Nickel Plate freight house.

The following Pittsburg trainmen have reported for duty: Engineers I. Burger, P. Titus, T. Quinn and W. Slagle, Firemen J. H. Traver, C. W. Larimore, F. J. Arthur, M. H. Webster, J. A. Jackson and G. Haines.

Joseph Wooff returned to his work in the Pittsburg machine shop this morning, after a few days' illness. Mr. Wooff is quite a florist and in his garden on Holman street are some rare plants. He has a bed of hyacinths out in full bloom, something unusual for this time of the year.

G. W. Lowe, one of the directors of the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western railroad, has gone to Findlay on official business. Mr. Lowe is an experienced railroad man, having served the Pennsylvania company first as engineer and later as master mechanic of the shops at Crestline, Ohio.

The Krupp gun train is now on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, having left Pittsburg last night. Frank Sweringen, of the Pittsburg shops, is accompanying the train as inspector. The train will probably be here tomorrow or Thursday, the exact date not being known. It travels very slowly and by daylight only.

Sunday afternoon Joseph Wilson, a stock dealer of Briant, a little station on the Grand Rapids road, thirty miles south of this city, attempted to cross the track ahead of the locomotive, when he slipped and fell, the engine passing over his left leg at the hip. The limb was amputated and it is thought he may recover. Wilson is thirty-five years of age and married.

A SENTINEL representative was shown through the street car power station last evening by Mr. Croy, the efficient and gentlemanly engineer. Everything about the building and machinery is in such perfect order that the visitor is impressed with the cleanliness of the place. Smoke, grease and dirt are generally found about engine rooms, but there is none of it at the street car station.

On Friday last Addison Hills, assistant to John Newell, president of the Lake Shore road, celebrated the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth. He is still hale and hearty, and daily turns off a large amount of work. He commenced railway service in 1837 as auditor of the Plainsville and Fairport road. He was with the Erie for several years, going from there to the Bee line. For the last five years he has been in his present position.

The Pennsylvania special train, bearing Vice President Frank Thompson and some local officials, is due in Fort Wayne at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The object of the special is to see if it is possible for a train to cover the distance between New York and Chicago in nineteen hours. Engine No. 111, with Engineer Tony Kelker and Fireman Frank Chiveron, has gone to Crestline to bring the train to this city. Engine 215, with Engineer Pete Reilly and Fireman R. H. Craig, will take the train to Chicago. Conductor J. P. Kickley will have charge of the train from Crestline to this city, where he will be released by Conductor Kinzie Kimmel.

The order to exchange Nickel Plate passenger engines at the depot, instead of the yards in the west end of the city, has been countermanded. In a week or two the new trains will be placed on the road and a new time card will go into effect, changing the time of the arrival and departure of trains at this point materially. When this change occurs the engines will be exchanged at the depot, and the engineers will report there for duty, and not at the round house, as at present. The cars will also be inspected at the depot and the trains will not stop at the yards. This will require another crew of car inspectors, whose duty will keep them at or near the depot constantly.

What An Ugly Disposition Will Do.

A miner named Boeheme purposely exploded ten pounds of dynamite in the iron mine Volkmarskeller, in the Harz district, last week. He and six other miners were torn to atoms. Upon leaving home Boeheme gave his wife a letter, which, he said, was not to be opened till noon. The letter said merely that Boeheme would never return. Boeheme's motive is supposed to have been revenge, as he had had trouble recently with the Superintendent of the mine, and was constantly quarreling with his fellow workingmen.

His Personal Experience.

Hon. James W. Husted, while serving his sixth term as speaker of the assembly of the state of New York, writes:

"STATE OF NEW YORK,
ASSEMBLY CHAMBER,
ALBANY, Jan. 16, 1890.

I desire once more to bear my testimony to the value of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I have used them for twenty-five years past, and can conscientiously commend them as the best external remedy that I have known. Years ago, when thrown from a carriage and seriously injured, I gave them a thorough trial. In a very short time the pain that I was suffering disappeared, and within a week I was entirely relieved. On another occasion, when suffering from a severe cough, which threatened pulmonary difficulties, which I was recommended to go to Florida to relieve, I determined to test the plasters again. I applied them to my chest and between the shoulder blades, and in less than a fortnight was entirely cured. On still another occasion when suffering from an attack of rheumatism in the shoulder to such an extent that I could scarcely raise my arm, I again resorted to the plasters, and within a very few days the rheumatism entirely disappeared. I have them constantly by me, whether at home or abroad. My family as well as myself have found them to be a sovereign remedy, both for external and internal troubles. I never had but one kidney difficulty in my life, and the application of the plasters cured me in a week. I desire, as I said before, to bear my testimony in a public way to their efficacy, and I know of no better way of doing it than by giving you my personal experience."

Lots of fun attended the efforts of 250 farmers near Virginia, Ill., who had started out on a wolf drive. They formed themselves into a circle, which they gradually narrowed, thinking they would kill or wound at least 100 wolves. When the cunning hunters came in sight of each other, there were just two wolves in the circle, and even these managed to escape.

Shut the Door.

You hear it constantly. People feel the draughts, but they never think of the over drafts upon nature which impair the digestive organs, and makes the use of Simmons Liver Regulator necessary to effectually move the liver to action, and aid the digestive and assimilative powers of the body. The Regulator is the medicine for all disorders of the stomach. Try it and be convinced.

A Buffalo clergyman lately preached an impressive sermon to a lot of poor children. Most of them were without warm clothing, and some without underclothing or stockings. Yet the clergyman spent three-quarters of an hour in advising them to renounce the luxuries and empty pleasures of life.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren avenue, Chicago, Ill.

The Goajira Indians live in the fastnesses of Colombia's mountains, far from missions and tracts and refining influences. Recently they caught some traders from the superior pale-faced race stealing their most comely girls. The Indians, in a crude but effective way, bound the traders to a stake and roasted them. Civilization heard of the affair and threw the inevitable stone. And now the rattling fragments of civilization's glass house hang about its own ears.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss Elisabeth Shioler and Mr. T. Bert Walker

Married at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church this Afternoon—Guests and Gowns—Society Notes.

Pretty bonnets and dainty spring costumes fluttered down the aisles of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, on Barr street, this afternoon, to the melodious accompaniment of the great organ, transforming the auditorium into a scene of light and color. The guests had assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Elisabeth Shioler, formerly of Copenhagen, Denmark, to Mr. T. Bert Walker, of Chicago, which took place at 4 o'clock. As the opening chords of Lohengrin's wedding march heralded the approach of the bride the usual wave of suppressed agitation rippled over the audience. The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Eiler Shioler, and was preceded by the four ushers Messrs. J. Ross McCulloch, Brooke Sale, John Dougal and Ed. Woodworth. The bridal procession filed down the aisle to the front of the church, where the officiating clergyman, the groom and his best man, Mr. Bert Slaughter, of Goshen, stood waiting to receive them and the impressive words of the Lutheran ceremony were read by Rev. A. H. Sauer. The bride was the very picture of sweetness and beauty. Her gown was of heavy white silk bengaline with a garniture of pearl passementrie and a large white hat, trimmed with nodding ostrich plumes, completed the costume. She carried a bunch of bride roses. As the last words of the benediction were pronounced, the organ took up the wedding march and the bridal procession, led by the bride and groom, turned and and wended its way down the aisle between two columns of admiring spectators. Following the bridal party were Mrs. M. Jennie Walker, mother of the groom, accompanied by Mr. Eiler Shioler; Miss Thyra Shioler with Mr. Bert Slaughter; Miss Anna Siboni and E. W. Walker, of Goshen, uncle of the groom; Prof. A. Brull and Mrs. E. Walker, of Goshen. Mrs. M. J. Walker wore a handsome costume of heliotrope silk. Miss Thyra Shioler was lovely in a gown of green Louisene silk combined with iridescent velvet and wore a hat to match. Miss Siboni's dress was of Gobelin blue silk bengaline with velvet trimmings and hat en suite. From the church the bridal party were driven to the New Aveline hotel where a wedding dinner was served at 4 o'clock to a few guests, in the private dining room. The table was decorated with a profusion of white carnations arranged with artistic carelessness and intermingled with the feathery asparagus vine and maiden hair fern. Covers were laid for twenty-four, and at each plate was a souvenir of carnations. The guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. E. Walker, Mrs. M. J. Walker, Burt Slaughter, Miss Ethe Dailey, of Goshen; Miss Mary Beach, of Lafayette; Rev. Theodore Ruhland, of Sturgis, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ellison, Mrs. Hall, Misses Thyra Shioler, Anna Siboni, Sophia Crull, Jane Nagle, Minnie Anderson, Prof. A. Crull, Messrs. J. Ross McCulloch, Ed. Woodworth, Brooke Sale, and John Dougal.

At 8 o'clock this evening Mr. and Mrs. Walker will leave for New York city, and will visit in Philadelphia and Washington for several weeks before going to Chicago, where they will be at home after May 1 at 81 Bryant avenue. The bride's going away gown was of fawn colored cloth, combined with velvet.

The bride who, as Miss Shioler, has made so many friends in this city, is the daughter of Mr. T. H. Shioler, a wealthy broker, of Copenhagen, Denmark. Two years ago she came to this city with her sister, Miss Thyra Shioler, and has since been associated with Miss Anna Siboni in the European school of Music. Besides possessing a voice of beautiful quality and tone Miss Shioler is an artist of no small ability. Mr. Walker, the groom, only a few years ago completed his studies in art at Paris and has already won an enviable reputation as an artist. Since his return to this country he has been employed by Harpers' Weekly, of New York, and the Graphic, of Chicago, and is known as one of the rising young artists of this country.

The Rifles armory, in the White Bank block, is all in gala attire in honor of the fair which is being held there this week. Streamers of red, white and blue and all colors of the rainbow have been deftly arranged, and with numerous flags and incandescent electric lights the hall glows with light and [illegible]. The Japanese booths in white cream and gold, and here all the trinkets of the Orient are sold. At the candy booth the decorations are in the natural colors, and homemade candies and cut flowers are sold. One of the prettiest booths is the American, decorated in the colors of the country, and red, white and blue incandescent lights form a canopy above. A game of chance is the attraction for the pocket book. At the art booth heliotrope and cream are used in the decoration, and fancy articles of all kinds are sold. The old curiosity shop, situated in one corner, might be called the country grocery, as anything may be purchased there. At the White Mountain booth many pretty sights are shown. Below the armory delicious and cooling refreshments in the way of ice cream and lemonade are dispensed by a number of young ladies.
